TCC Africa was honored to work with the Namibia Library Consortium (NALICO) in introducing the open access research discovery solution, dimensions.ai to the Namibian academic community which will help them improve their research output and visibility.

Recording of the session:

About Dimensions

Dimensions contains more than 100 million publications, ranging from articles published in scholarly journals, books and book chapters, to preprints and conference proceedings. All publications are contextualized with linked data sets, funding, publications, patents, clinical trials, and policy documents. You can also view associated categories, funders, institutions, and researcher profiles.
